The Honorable Andrea K. Johnstone
United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire
55 Pleasant Street, Room 110
Concord, NH 03301-3941

Dear Judge Johnstone,

I am writing to apply for a clerkship in your chambers for the 2024–2025 term. I am a recent graduate of Duke University School of Law. This fall, I will be a first-year associate in Cahill Gordon & Reindel’s New York office.

I believe I have the research and writing skills to excel as your clerk. While at Duke Law, I have enhanced my legal skills by competing in moot court competitions, participating in Duke’s Appellate Practice course, and working as a research editor for the Duke Law Journal. Last spring, I coauthored an essay about Black farmers, entitled Rattlesnakes, Debt, and ARPA § 1005: The Existential Crisis of American Black Farmers, which the Duke Law Journal Online published. During the summer of 2021, I interned for Judge Mary Ellen Coster Williams of the Court of Federal Claims in Washington, DC. In this role, I worked closely with the judge and her clerks and saw firsthand the importance of thorough research, clear writing, and collaboration.

Letters of recommendation on my behalf can be sent by Duke from the following individuals:

Professor Neil Siegel
Duke Law School

Professor Barak Richman

Dear Judge Johnstone:

As a third-year student at The University of Iowa College of Law with experience working in full-time employment, judicial extern experience, and an upcoming clerkship position with the Iowa Court of Appeals, I hope to contribute my diverse skillset to your chambers as your law clerk for the 2024-25 term. I am originally from the East Coast, and I plan to resettle and practice in the Northeast after I finish my term with the Iowa Court of Appeals.

My academic and professional experience leave me well-positioned to succeed as a law clerk in your chambers. I completed my first year with a 3.29 GPA and improved my GPA to a 3.32 last semester. During my time in law school, I have gained valuable legal analysis, research and writing skills that enabled me to serve as a summer extern for the Honorable Carlton Reeves at the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Mississippi. As an extern, I wrote and prepared draft orders on criminal and civil issues, and I produced accurate work collaboratively and promptly. Specifically, I worked on Title VII religious and race discrimination employment cases, and injury and product liability cases. Additionally, as a research assistant to Associate Dean Adrien Wing at Iowa Law, I am researching, editing and proofreading articles and books spanning international human rights, sex, race, and gender discrimination.

At Dotdash Meredith last summer, I updated the litigation database with recent cases, searching Pacer and articles for information about cases in which DDM was involved. Currently, as the Senior Managing Editor for the Journal of Gender, Race & Justice, I work closely with the Bluebook, edit and format articles for publication below and above the line, and help student writers understand Journal and Bluebook conventions. Additionally, next year, I will refine and further develop my writing skills as a law clerk to Judge Mary Tabor of the Iowa Court of Appeals.

Please find attached a copy of my resume, writing sample, official law school transcript, and undergraduate transcript. Two recommendations are to follow. Thank you for your review and consideration and I look forward to hearing from you soon about the opportunity to clerk in your chambers.

Sincerely,

Chantelle Cade

Dear Judge Johnstone,

I am writing to apply for a clerkship for the 2024-2025 term. I graduated from Duke Law in May of 2023. I will be working at a law firm in Los Angeles until the 2024 term. It would be an honor to clerk for you.

Both as a law student and as an undergraduate student, I have worked to develop my writing and researching skills. At Syracuse University, I wrote several research papers that won departmentwide and university-wide awards. As a law student, I worked as a research assistant for three professors and co-wrote an article on legal history for Professor Dan Bowling that he plans to publish. My independent study and Duke's Advanced Legal Research course have also enhanced my research skills. I plan to improve my writing skills this summer by reading several legal writing books.

I have worked in fast-paced and demanding environments, including as a Summer Associate at Bush Gottlieb. In this position, I was part of a live negotiation team with a partner and several associates. We worked collaboratively to integrate our analysis of the economic statements and legal issues into an argument for the client. Through this experience, I gained experience working with a small group of people on a time sensitive legal matter.

Enclosed is my resume, Duke Law transcript, undergraduate transcript, writing sample, and letters of recommendation from Ms. Lisa Demidovich and Professor Anne Gordon. Please contact me if you need any additional information. Thank you for your consideration.

Sunday, June 19, 2022

The Honorable Andrea Johnstone
United States District Court, District of New Hampshire
55 Pleasant Street
Room 110
Concord, NH 03301

Dear Judge Johnstone:

Ikigai, a Japanese concept taught to me during law school, means “that which gives your life worth, meaning, or purpose.” The philosophy parallels the French term “raison d’etre” or “reason for being.” As a lawyer I found my reason for being—combining my passion, mission, vocation, and profession.

Being the daughter of a single mother, advocacy has always been a cornerstone of my life. During my undergraduate career, I focused on public policy and electoral politics. Constituent services taught me, however, that most conflicts of serious consequence require the same tool: a lawyer. In recognition of that challenge, I redirected myself toward legal advocacy, with a particular passion for the internalized standard of excellence prosecutors must adhere to in protecting a defendant’s constitutional rights at all stages.

Throughout my current role as a judicial law clerk in New Hampshire, however, civil cases have been the most interesting and complicated assignments. Namely, a bench trial involving a dispute over rights of way, documentation of which was lost to time and a local fire. The trial included testimony on land surveying and analysis of dense historical documents. An interesting history lesson quickly became the painstaking task of deciphering complex evidence. Nevertheless, the resulting draft is one of my proudest accomplishments to date and earned considerable praise from the presiding judge. Clerking in New Hampshire Superior Court has been an invaluable experience that provided me with a newfound appreciation for the nuanced challenges judges face and the creativity that can blossom from complicated legal conflicts.

I also recently served as an alumni speaker for a recruitment panel at Suffolk Law promoting my current clerkship program. I am incredibly proud to represent this program and I hope I inspired soon-to-be lawyers to pursue a judicial clerkship. Serving as a law clerk to begin my legal career solidified my passion for the judicial perspective of litigation, whereby both parties make creative presentations in the pursuit of a just result. I enjoy every day clerking for the New Hampshire Superior Court. That joy contributes to my “reason for being” and now drives me to pursue a federal court clerkship.

At your convenience, I would greatly appreciate an opportunity to discuss the position and my qualifications at greater length. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

/s/ Michaela B. Dunn

Dear Hon. Judge Johnstone:

I am a rising 3L at The George Washington University Law School, and I am seeking a clerkship in your chambers. Given my interest in pursuing federal litigation, I would sincerely appreciate the opportunity to analyze a diverse and complex docket of cases as your clerk.

I am a current Summer Associate at Covington & Burling LLP's D.C. office, an incoming Notes Editor on The George Washington Law Review, a former Research Assistant for Associate Dean Aram Gavoar, and a Writing Fellow. As a member of The Law Review, I have written a Note on the topic of conservatorship arrangements. Last summer, I served as a judicial intern to the Honorable Reggie B. Walton in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. Prior to law school, I worked for two years as an Analyst at the D.C. office of Kobre & Kim LLP, where I was staffed directly to legal cases to provide factual and organizational support. I have also accepted a position with GW's Criminal Defense and Justice Clinic for the Fall.

Please see enclosed for my application packet, which includes my resume, transcript, writing sample, as well as three recommendations. The first recommendation is from Professor Natalia Blinkova, who was my 1L Fundamentals of Lawyering (legal writing) professor, and current director of the Writing Center, in which I serve as a Writing Fellow. The second recommendation is from Professor Joan Schaffner, who was my 1L Legislation and Regulation professor, as well as my professor for Sexuality and the Law. The third recommendation is from Associate Dean Aram Gavoar, who was my Constitutional Law II professor and for whom I worked as a Research Assistant.

I sincerely appreciate your consideration of my application, and I would welcome the opportunity to provide any further details you may require.

Sincerely,

Victoria Farris

February 6, 2023

Dear Judge Johnstone,

My name is Anthony Gullo, and I am currently in my third year at Notre Dame Law School. I am writing to apply for a clerkship position in your chambers starting in September 2024. This past summer, I worked for Simpson Thacher & Bartlett in New York as a summer associate and received a full-time litigation associate offer, which I have accepted, for after graduation. Throughout this past summer, I had the opportunity to work on an array of projects in groups such as Litigation, Real Estate, Funds, and Personal Planning.

In addition to this role, I have extensive prior work experience. In 2021, I served as a judicial intern for the Honorable Judge Joseph Bianco on the United States Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. In working for Judge Bianco, in addition to sharpening many of the important skills used by clerks, I developed a great appreciation for and strong desire to serve as a clerk, as it would be an excellent experience early on in my formation as an attorney. Prior to Notre Dame Law School, I worked for Morgan Stanley in New York in their Legal and Compliance division, developing important reading, writing, research, attention to detail, and editing skills in my positions there. Prior to my employment with Morgan Stanley, I graduated magna cum laude from Cornell University.

Thank you for considering my application, and I look forward to hearing from your chambers.

Sincerely,
Anthony Gullo

The Honorable Andrea Johnstone
Magistrate Judge
U.S. District Court for the District of New Hampshire

Dear Judge Johnstone:

I am a third-year student at the Temple University Beasley School of Law and am writing to apply for a clerkship in your chambers starting in the fall of 2023. My two summer experiences at Buchanan Ingersoll & Rooney and Saul Ewing Arnstein & Lehr convinced me that clerking for a federal magistrate judge would be the ideal way to begin my career. I am particularly interested in your chambers because I resided in New Hampshire for two years before starting law school and eventually wish to return back to the Granite State.

I am confident that my research and writing skills will enable me to make meaningful contributions to your chambers from day one. As you will see from my resume, I have a science background with a research focus in low-temperature geochemistry. My experience navigating complex data sets to draw logical conclusions translated well to a legal education, and my ability to analyze and synthesize case law earned me one of the top grades in both of my Legal Research and Writing classes. Further, my time teaching at a predominantly international school made me an effective communicator – a necessary skill for both the writing and interpersonal components of a clerkship in a federal district court.

For your review, I have enclosed my resume, an unofficial copy of my law school transcript, and a writing sample. Please do not hesitate to contact me for additional information. Thank you for your consideration and I hope to hear from you soon.

Respectfully,

Christopher Klein

Hon. Andrea Johnstone,

Through the diversity of cultures and areas I have lived and worked within, I embraced new approaches and values that inform my critical thinking today. Increasingly, I understood the value of critically engaging with issues from different and unfamiliar perspectives while at the same time relating that to my own adversity with a speech impediment (stutter) through law school. Learning to embrace the empathy and humility adversity builds through these experiences instilled a strong sense of compassion and patience for clients/parties, opposing advocates, and legal issues often more complex than my initial perspective could afford me. These are the foundational values I aspire to enhance through a clerkship, and it is why I am specifically motivated to bring these academic and practical experiences to a clerkship in your chambers—where I believe the combination of commitments to diversity, ethics, and diligence in legal analysis makes it the ideal judicial environment I envisioned when aspiring towards a clerkship after law school.

After giving up a college baseball career to work for an investigative reporter my first year of my undergraduate studies, I gained invaluable early exposure to issues involving press freedom, voting rights, and the rights of indigenous peoples. More importantly, though, I gained a strong ethical foundation towards my future work. Receiving a scholarship to undertake fieldwork in India for my undergraduate thesis thereafter ultimately led to my first international human rights law class and a burgeoning academic passion for the domestic and international application of human rights law.

Bringing a unique international policy and legal perspective through litigation experience on a Defence team at the International Criminal Court and human rights development at the Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights' Rule-of-Law branch prior, I have seen how human rights principles such as due process and fair trial rights are conceptually developed and practically applied in various contexts. Furthermore, as an intern in the U.S. District Court for the Central District of California in the Hon. Consuelo B. Marshall's chambers, I wrote numerous research memos, draft opinions, and reviewed habeas petitions that imbued an early commitment to diligence and precision in all legal work.

After a diverse set of legal and academic experiences—including my current legal advocacy position at the Center for Reproductive Rights—cementing a passion for legal theory and its proper interpretation and application to individual cases, I am confident I will apply valuable perspectives and skills in your chambers. I am particularly enthusiastic about the opportunity to clerk for a judge with a lifelong commitment to and passion for public interest work—especially involvement in the local community. Clerking in your chambers truly unites the core of what I have sought in my law school experiences—a position that will challenge me while providing the kind of proximity to the kinds of legal issues and practical skills that I seek to devote an advocacy career towards.

Sincerely,

Kiefer Kofman

Honorable Andrea K. Johnstone
Magistrate Judge
United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire
55 Pleasant Street
Concord, NH 03301-3941

Dear Judge Johnstone:

I am writing to apply for a 2024–2025 term clerkship in your chambers. I am a 2023 graduate of the City University of New York School of Law and was the co-Managing Articles Editor for the City University of New York Law Review. Through overseeing half of the journal's print pieces, authoring two notes, and my upcoming clerkship, I am developing critical analysis, writing, legal research, and collaboration skills that would benefit this position.

I would bring to the clerkship a broad array of experiences in legal work; before law school, I worked as a bankruptcy paralegal at a small firm and volunteered at a pro se asylum legal clinic. My clerkship, beginning in August, with a New Jersey Superior Court judge will further elevate my skills in researching various areas of the law, as well as writing draft decisions and bench memoranda. I will also build on the skills I acquired from my mediation clinic by mediating cases during my clerkship. My academic year internship with a New York State judge allowed me to write many draft decisions and learn about court procedures.

In addition to my internships, I wrote a paper for an independent study about how judges across the country have interpreted leases in disputes where commercial tenants did not pay rent due to COVID-19. The paper allowed me to research recent and historical court decisions and review case filings. I am delighted to share that the Saint Louis University Law Journal has published it. This summer, the CUNY International Law Journal will also publish my paper on lessons learned from Chile's recent constitutional convention and plebiscite.

I am confident I would be an asset to your chambers; my various experiences in law have helped me cultivate my skill set. Additionally, I believe my attention to detail and collaborative attitude would serve this clerkship well. Thank you very kindly for your consideration. I am available at your convenience for an interview. Please contact me at (914) 960-3250 or glenn.lutzky@live.law.cuny.edu if you need any additional information.

Respectfully,

Glenn Lutzky

Judge Johnstone,

It is with enthusiasm that I am submitting my application for a term law clerk position with your chambers. No single reason has prompted me to apply. Rather, it has been through personal reflection and consistent exposure to the workings of the federal judiciary that I find myself drawn to this opportunity.

Throughout my legal studies, I effectively balanced and furthered my full-time, professional career in corporate consulting while excelling in my part-time studies as a law student. In addition to the required legal skills courses that provided me with a foundational understanding of legal writing and analysis, three academic-year internships with separate federal agencies during my time in law school allowed me to hone my research skills and cemented my desire to work on complex issues and in public service.

Most valuable to my professional development thus far has been the experience that my current position as a full-time, federally-contracted law clerk with the U.S. Attorney's Office in Boston has afforded me. Through that position, which I have held since graduating law school in May of 2022, I have been exposed to various legal issues across both the criminal and civil landscapes and demanding deadlines. In this role, I have tried to observe as many federal court proceedings as possible. Through observing a variety of these proceedings, I have come to both appreciate and respect the significance and the importance of a U.S. District Court and the vibrancy of its halls.

I recognize the fundamental services that a District Court offers to the pro se plaintiff and the experienced litigant, alike. In working as a judicial law clerk, I would hope to contribute to your chambers through the limited, yet diverse set of experiences that I have garnered as a part-time law student, an employee of a private consulting firm, and a law clerk for a federal agency.

I have no reservations that serving as a law clerk with your chambers would provide foundational legal instruction and be an incredibly rewarding, collaborative, and collegial experience.

Respectfully,

Jonathan T. Marinelli

Hon. Andrea K. Johnstone

Dear Judge Johnstone,

My name is Seth Montandon, and I am a 3L at the Texas A&M University School of Law, where I serve as an Articles Editor on the flagship Law Review's Editorial Board. I am writing you to apply for the 2024–2025 clerkship with your chambers in Concord, New Hampshire, following my 2023–2024 clerkship with Judge Michelle Slaughter on the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

I am an aspiring criminal prosecutor with experience working in chambers for trial and appellate court judges, and I believe that I would make a valuable addition to your chambers. My professional and extra-curricular experiences in law school have refined the legal research, analysis, and writing skills that will make me an excellent law clerk. Specifically, my experience interning for Texas judges has honed my ability to write clearly, concisely, and accurately. Further, my experience serving as an editor on the Texas A&M Law Review has increased my attention to detail and ability to detect and correct citation and technical errors in legal writing. Finally, my experience working in Texas A&M's Family & Veterans Advocacy Clinic has given me hands-on experience drafting motions and briefs and arguing cases before Texas courts. All of these experiences have involved working well with others in a team environment.

I also possess legal experience at the federal level, having interned for two federal district judges in the Southern District of Texas: Judge Fernando Rodriguez, Jr., and Judge David S. Morales. During these internships, I gained valuable first-hand experience working with the judges and their law clerks in a capacity that further prepared me to serve as a law clerk after graduation. Specifically, my duties included conducting research, drafting memoranda, assisting with order and opinion drafting, reviewing reports and recommendations for Sections 2254 and 2255 petitions, and helping conduct second-round reviews of the Fifth Circuit's pattern jury charge.

My resume, unofficial transcript, writing sample, and recommendation letters are included in this application. If my qualifications are consistent with what you are looking for in a law clerk, I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my experience with you further in an interview. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Respectfully,

Seth A. Montandon

The Honorable Andrea Johnstone
Warren B. Rudman United States Courthouse
55 Pleasant Street, Room 110
Concord, NH 03301

Dear Judge Johnstone:

I am a rising third-year student at St John's University School of Law. I am writing to apply for a position as a law clerk in your chambers beginning in 2023.

Prior to law school, I developed strong research and writing skills while interning at the Learning Policy Institute and the United States Senate's Health Education Labor and Pensions committee, as well as while working for the House of Representatives. In these positions, I drafted several memos addressing inequities in education and health, racial bias in school discipline, and female genital mutilation on migrant African woman. I gained the requisite research and writing skills to draft these memos during my time as a graduate student at the University of Rochester's Margaret Warner Graduate School of Education and Human Development. Additionally, I was able to further enhance my communication skills and passion for advocating for clients while working as a paralegal at Douglas & London P.C.

During my 1L summer, I worked as a Legal Intern for the Legal Aid Society's Decarceration Project. During my internship, I was tasked with writing writs of habeas corpus, researching and writing memos for the supervising attorney, drafting bail letters, and reviewing and briefing cases to create a case bank which housed all bail related cases.

During my second year I served as a Staff Member for the Journal of Civil Rights and Economic Development. Additionally, I served as a Staff Member of the Moot Court Honor Society. During my time as Moot Court staff member, I competed in the following competitions: the Hon. Milton Mollen Moot Court Competition, New York University's Immigration Law Competition, where I finished as a semifinalist, the Duberstein Bankruptcy Moot Court Competition, and the Roy L. Reardon Moot Court Competition, where I won best oralist. Moreover, I interned for the Honorable Justice Paul Wooten sitting in the New York Supreme Court Appellate Division Second Department. Currently, I continue to develop my skills as a Research Assistant for the Rittenberg Law Library and as an intern at the Center for Appellate Litigation.

Along with my cover letter, you will find attached my transcript, resume, and letters of recommendation. I would appreciate the opportunity to meet with you to discuss my interest in and qualifications for the position. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Rashad Moore

The Honorable Andrea K. Johnstone
United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire
55 Pleasant St., Room 110
Concord, NH 03301

Dear Judge Johnstone,

Please accept this letter as part of my application for the Term Law Clerk position for the 2023-24 term. I am a rising third-year law student enrolled at Roger Williams University School of Law in the class of 2023. I have loved living in New England since I went to college, so the opportunity to clerk in New Hampshire will allow me to stay in this beautiful area and put down roots.

As you will see from my previous experience, I have worked primarily in the trial courts, and I wouldn't have it any other way. My goal is to start my career in the trenches. As a clerk for the District Court, I hope to tackle factual and legal issues first-hand in a dynamic environment.

I believe my experience as a research assistant and law clerk has prepared me to contribute meaningfully to your chambers. As a research assistant for Joseph Daigle, Esq., I developed efficient and thorough research strategies that ensured I met all deadlines and provided persuasive legal support to my arguments. As a clerk for Chief Judge John McConnell Jr., I learned how to write in a judicial tone that advocated for the law rather than a particular side. It was refreshing to analyze concepts such as stare decisis, statutory construction, and federalism, for their own sakes, rather than work within these doctrines to benefit one side.

Attached for your review are my resume, law school transcript, and writing sample. The writing sample is a final research paper for my Seminar on Judicial Processes and Ethics that received the CALI Award for the highest grade in the class. My paper examines the role of the judiciary when justices act as "reformers." Letters of recommendation from Roger Williams Professor John Barylack and Chief Judge John McConnell will be sent separately via the OSCAR system.

Thank you very much for your time and consideration. Please feel free to contact me if I can provide you with any additional information.

Respectfully,

Christopher X. Morris

Dear Judge Johnstone:

I am a Law Clerk at Schulte Roth & Zabel LLP writing to apply for a clerkship in your chambers beginning in September 2024. For the 2024-25 term, I am limiting my clerkship applications to courts in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Maine due to my partner's work as a public defender in The New Hampshire Public Defender's Stratham office. As she and I consider our future in or near Rockingham County, I am particularly interested in New Hampshire based clerkships. In addition, clerking for a judge who has a background in employment and labor law would be an added benefit.

Interning full-time for a semester in the Honorable Loretta A. Preska's chambers was the cornerstone of my law school experience. In this role, I worked closely with Judge Preska and her term clerks, which included my drafting of several court orders. From this shorter time in chambers, I learned much about the intangibles of litigation practice, yet I hope to further improve my skillset by clerking for a year in federal district court.

Enclosed please find my application package. My writing sample is a memorandum of law that I wrote when I was an intern for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration ("NASA") during the summer of 2020. Recommendation letters from Cardozo Professors David Rudenstine ((646) 592-6546) and Samuel Weinstein ((646) 592-6470) are forthcoming. Judge Preska ((212) 805-0240), Randall T. Adams ((212) 756-2019), a litigation partner at my law firm, and Shari Feinberg ((202) 420-8415), my supervisor at NASA, have agreed to serve as references.

I am returning to New Hampshire in July and would welcome the chance to meet with you. Please feel free to contact me at your convenience. Thank you for your consideration of my application.

Respectfully,
/s/ Jason Nagel

Dear Judge Johnstone,

My name is Grace O'Brien and I am applying for a 2024 clerkship with your chambers. I graduated this May from NYU School of Law and will be clerking this upcoming year for Associate Justice Marguerite Grant of the Massachusetts Court of Appeals.

Attached to this application are my resume, my law school and undergraduate transcripts, and my writing sample. My writing sample is a short brief I wrote for the seminar associated with my externship in the Civil Division of the U.S. Attorney's Office for the Southern District of New York. The brief, a reply in support of a motion for summary judgment, was a classroom assignment, but was based on the real facts of a case the Civil Division handled some years ago.

Also included with my application are three recommendation letters. The first is from David Kennedy, an Assistant United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York who taught the seminar associated with my externship in the Civil Division. The second is from Professor Eugene Fidell who taught me in a seminar on military justice. The third recommendation is from Christine Collins who supervised my 2L summer internship at the Office of the Solicitor for the Department of Labor.

I would welcome the opportunity to interview with you.

Respectfully,
Grace O'Brien

Throughout my time at the University of Akron School of Law, I focused on gaining experience and performing well academically. Amongst my other qualifications, I graduated summa cum laude from Bowling Green State University.

This past summer, I was a summer associate at Brennan, Manna, and Diamond and will continue there after taking the UBE in July 2023. Before my law clerk position, I was a judicial extern for the Honorable John R. Adams. I also completed a legal internship with GE Lighting, a Savant Company. To supplement these experiences, I participated in the law school's transactional clinic and the civil practice clinic, where I received my certified legal intern certificate to gain litigation experience.

I served as a production editor on the Editorial Board of the Akron Law Review. The Honorable Andrea Johnstone
 United States Magistrate Judge
 United States District Court for the District of New Hampshire
 U.S. District Court
 55 Pleasant Street, Room 110
 Concord, NH 03301-3941

Dear Judge Johnstone:

I write to express my strong interest in the 2023-2024 Term Clerkship in your chambers following my May 2023 graduation and completion of the Bar. I am interested in clerking in your chambers because of the opportunity to continue clerking and learning at the federal level, serve the public good, and explore New Hampshire's outdoors.

My experience as a Summer Legal Intern for the Hon. Charles B. Kornmann, District Judge in the United States District Court of South Dakota, would make me an asset in your chambers. By working on various federal issues, from § 1983 claims to sentencing guidelines, I developed strong research and writing skills that aid me in learning new areas of law quickly and effectively. Working for Judge Kornmann also piqued a strong desire to work as a federal clerk. It was the most fulfilling and rewarding experience of my legal career. I also found it profoundly satisfying to serve the public by contributing to the judicial system and the administration of justice.

In alignment with the clerkship's need for high-performing teamwork, I have collaborated with various teams to create quality work while working as a tax accountant for Ernst & Young LLP (EY). During my time with EY, I was a part of the International and Indirect Tax teams working on complex return filings and obtaining refunds for our clients. As part of the International Tax team, we successfully filed over three hundred returns for a new client on time, enticing the client to provide more tax business the following year. Further, while on the Indirect Tax team, I developed legal research skills, which contributed to saving hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes for our clients. For example, by researching the tax codes of various states, I determined which of our client's manufacturing expenses were eligible for a sales tax refund. Collaborating with such teams helped me develop the communication and organizational skills necessary for this clerkship.

Additionally, I have honed my legal skills through extracurricular activities, which will allow me to provide immediate value to your chambers. I was an Associate Editor for the Loyola International Law Review, a member of the Jessup Team of Loyola Moot Court, and a Spring Law Clerk for the Illinois Attorney General's Office. As an Associate Editor, I refined my skills in editing legal writing and citations. Further, as a member of Jessup and as a Spring Law Clerk, I improved my legal analysis and writing skills on complex international, state, and administrative law matters.

Finally, I want to work in your chambers because, as an avid hiker, I want to explore New Hampshire's outdoors. Concord's proximity to several state parks, the White Mountain National Forest, and the ocean makes it an ideal location to enjoy nature, go camping, and explore.

Based on my experience, research, and writing skills, I am confident I will be a great fit and contribute meaningfully to your chambers as a clerk. I hope to have the opportunity to interview and learn more about the position. As part of this application please find a resume, law transcript, undergraduate transcript, writing sample, and letters of recommendation. Thank you for your consideration and time; I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Cordially,

Murphy Quill

Dear Magistrate Judge Johnstone,

I am a rising third-year law student at New York University School of Law and I write to express my strong interest in a clerkship in your chambers for the 2023 term, or any subsequent term. With this application, I enclose a copy of my resume, my unofficial law school transcript and NYU Law's Transcript Addendum, my unofficial undergraduate transcript, a writing sample, and four letters of recommendation. The enclosed writing sample is an excerpt from a longer piece written during my second year of law school for a seminar course in domestic human rights advocacy.

I came to law school to think creatively about effective climate-related human rights enforcement mechanisms and to learn how to deploy these mechanisms with rather than for my communities of concern. I plan to pursue a career in strategic climate change litigation. My interest in the law, however, originated during my studies in theology at Boston University where I focused on the use of alternative dispute resolution mechanisms in interfaith conflict. At NYU Law, I have pursued my interest in human rights through participation in clinics, seminar courses, and externships. I am the current Editor-in-Chief of the NYU Environmental Law Journal. I have made amplifying the human realities of climate vulnerability a priority in selecting articles for publication in the journal. I want to leave a legacy, however small, of bending legal institutions toward environmental justice.

The four recommendations I enclose have been written by the professors and mentors who have fed my intellectual curiosity and encouraged me to both deepen my engagement and problematize my own beliefs. Professors Margaret Satterthwaite and Ellie Happel were two of my clinical professors in the NYU Global Justice Clinic, where I focused my work on climate justice in Haiti. Professor Chris Jaeger was my first-year lawyering professor at NYU Law. His class provided a first glimpse into the world of litigation. Robert Bordone, founder of the Cambridge Negotiation Institute (CNI), has been a close colleague throughout my time in law school. He has shared his extensive expertise in negotiation and taught me a great deal about the importance of accounting for human emotional patterning in the development of legal tools.

Alicia Brudney supervised my term-time internship with Corporate Accountability Lab (CAL), where I learned about human-centered strategic litigation for rights advocacy. I have included the contact information of each of my recommenders below.

My record, both before and during law school, tells the story of a person who is deeply committed to learning by doing. I am applying for a clerkship in your chambers because I want to continue to learn about the law and its power to order human relationships through direct observation and participation in the execution of justice. I'm drawn to litigation because I find energy in the immediacy of the active practice of law.

I believe in the law as a critical tool of good stewardship of our communities of concern and of the environment. In my view, it is essential that both lawyers and the judiciary internalize the fact of the law as an institution that touches the most intimate aspects of our lives, including our most basic freedom. As an aspiring clerk who was born abroad, I hope to develop a keener understanding of the vulnerabilities of the American justice system and the essential role of the judge in safeguarding democracy. I value mentorship as a fundamental element of my development as a lawyer and I am seeking a clerkship with a judge who both shares my values and will challenge me to broaden my lens on the world.

Thank you for considering my application. I welcome the chance to further discuss my interests and qualifications.

Respectfully,

Laura M. Sabia

Dear Judge Johnstone:

I am a rising third year student at Vanderbilt Law School seeking a judicial clerkship for the term beginning in the fall of 2023 or later. When I was fifteen, I had the opportunity to visit the Supreme Court. Justice Scalia spoke to my group that day about the phrase etched above the courthouse, "Equal Justice Under Law," and it was at that moment that I knew that my purpose in life is to promote and protect this ideal. Equal justice under the law is not something that can be obtained and then forgotten. It requires constant care and vigilance to ensure that its promise is fulfilled. I plan on spending my life carrying out this ideal, and I would be honored to start this commitment by serving as your law clerk.

My academic and professional experiences have prepared me well for a clerkship in your chambers. I serve as Senior Managing Editor of the Vanderbilt Journal of Entertainment and Technology Law. My writing and research skills have been honed through my journal experience and through a research assistant position with Professor Michael Vandenberg. During the summer of 2021, I served as an intern to Judge Eli Richardson of the United States District Court for the Middle District of Tennessee. I assisted in the drafting of opinions, observed court proceedings, and conducted extensive legal research.

I hope to have the opportunity to interview with you. Please advise me if you should require any additional information and thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

CECILIA SHIELDS-AUBLE

121 Margaret St., Apt. D, So. Portland, ME 04106 | cecilia.shieldsauble@maine.edu | 603.667.8684

Hon. Andrea Johnstone
U.S. District Court for the District of New Hampshire
Warren B. Rudman U.S. Courthouse
55 Pleasant Street, Concord, NH 03301

Dear Magistrate Judge Johnstone,

I am writing to express my interest in a clerkship with your chambers for the 2023-2024 term. I am a rising third year student at Maine Law, the Head Case Note and Comment Editor of the Maine Law Review, and an incoming legal writing teaching assistant. I believe I would be a positive addition to your team because, through my academic and professional experiences, I have cultivated a skillset that fits the research, writing, and editing demands of your chambers.

Since beginning my legal career, I have sought out experiences to augment my understanding of federal litigation and the judicial process. Last summer I worked as an intern for the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Maine, where I engaged in both criminal and civil matters and was able to observe federal court proceedings. This past semester I served as a judicial extern to the Hon. Catherine Connors at the Maine Supreme Judicial Court, which deepened my understanding of the appellate process and, perhaps most significantly, solidified my passion for public service. This coming fall I will serve as the judicial extern to the Hon. Karen Wolf at the U.S. District Court for the District of Maine, an experience I believe will provide a solid foundation upon which I can succeed as a future term clerk.

I have also deliberately chosen a challenging law school curriculum that constantly engages my research, writing, and editing skills. Though my coursework with Professor Jamesa Drake, I studied appellate litigation and wrote briefs for two direct appeals, which pushed me to experiment with tone and style, and to write beyond my comfort zone. As a result of these efforts, my comment titled What's Love Got to Do with It? Redefining Domestic Violence to Close Federal Firearm Loopholes was selected for publication in the Maine Law Review this fall. Finally, in my leadership role with the journal, I will manage the editing team that guides next year's staff members through authoring their own case notes or comments.

This clerkship is my top choice because I plan to practice in federal litigation and would welcome the chance to gain familiarity with the U.S. District Court, learn from your experience, and return to my home state of New Hampshire. Further, this placement would offer me another opportunity to serve the public by supporting your work and the Court's mission.

Thank you for considering my application; I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Cecilia Shields-Auble
